2:05 – 2:35 p.m. KEYNOTE CONVERSATION: Working from Home – Setting Up Your Rig

Over the past seven months a number of broadcast operations have moved to living rooms, dens and basements across America. Join us for a quick tour of some of these work-from-home facilities and learn about key technologies, how to set up a solid workspace, and more.

MODERATOR:

Ken Kerschbaumer, SVG, Executive Director, Editorial

SPEAKERS:

Josh Glaze, Freelance EVS and Hawk-Eye Operator

Rob Hedrick, National Hot Rod Association,
Director of Post-Production and Supervising Producer

2:35 – 3:15 p.m. Decentralized Production Tips and Best Practices

New technologies have allowed for remote production teams to work across thousands of miles and multiple time zones on a single production. How does working that way impact pre-production planning? How can you get a disparate team to work as one despite the miles? What technologies make it easier to collaborate and communicate? Experts in new workflows offer tips and suggestions to help make a difference in your next show.

MODERATOR:

Ken Kerschbaumer, SVG, Executive Director, Editorial

PANELISTS:

Jim Jachetta, VidOvation, CTO and Co-Founder

James Japhet, Hawk-Eye N.A., Managing Director

3:15 – 3:50 p.m. Decentralized Production Tips and Best Practices, Part Two

People working from remote locations like their home office who tie into a technical infrastructure located within a production truck or broadcast facility need to take a number of steps to ensure their set-up not only operates properly but also safely. Network security, password management, and protecting against power issues are just a few of the considerations. Leaders from the SVG Content Security Work Group offers some practical advice that can make a difference.

MODERATOR:

Ken Kerschbaumer, SVG, Executive Director, Editorial
